Moving Slower Moves On...and Up!

Thank you for your interest in the transportation and climate change policy blog, Moving Slower, over the past year! It has been an exciting year of federal and California policy developments related to transportation/ land use planning and greenhouse gas reduction goals. This week marks the one-year anniversary of both Chairman Oberstar's release of the "Surface Transportation Reauthorization Act of 2009" and the "American Clean Energy and Security Act of 2009." Over the past year I have enjoyed sharing my analyses and news updates on federal and state policy via my blog. I am pleased to announce that I am expanding my application of policy synthesis from Moving Slower by launching a new business! In celebration of the past year's progress toward a more sustainable future that promotes integrated land use and transportation planning, Policy in Motion is a Woman/ Disadvantaged Business Enterprise focused exclusively on federal and California climate policy analysis, education and implementation as it pertains to transportation and land use plans and projects which improve network management and decrease vehicle-miles-traveled.

Policy in Motion Web Portal

I have designed the Policy in Motion website as a continued resource for federal and California policy news and analysis in a more user-friendly interface. Click on the following website features for more information:

- Trans&Climate Policy: "static" pages providing concise analyses on both California and federal climate change and transportation planning laws and developing legislation
- Policy News: "active" page with daily posts on policy news – including topics on federal grant programs and SB 375 GHG Targets
- Hot Topics: choose from a drop-down list of categories to search all Policy News postings on the website. Categories include: California policy, federal policy, transportation funding, GHG reduction strategies, local government, metropolitan planning, transit
- Follow Policy in Motion!: stay up to date on the latest policy news via RSS feeds, e-mail, twitter or facebook – whichever you prefer!
- "Cool Connections" Contributions: more detailed analyses of policy developments at the federal and state level will be posted on Fehr & Peers' climate change blog, CoolConnections.org

Happy Anniversary!
